

The UK construction industry's transformation opportunity*

Green shoots of optimism are being seen as UK construction leaders are stepping up to the digital transformation opportunity

We surveyed 200 leaders and influencers across the construction industry to understand how they will be investing in technology over the next 12 months

2020 seen as a pivotal year for uptake of new technologies

81% of construction leaders will take greater leaps to improve their businesses digitally

UNLOCKING GREATER VALUE

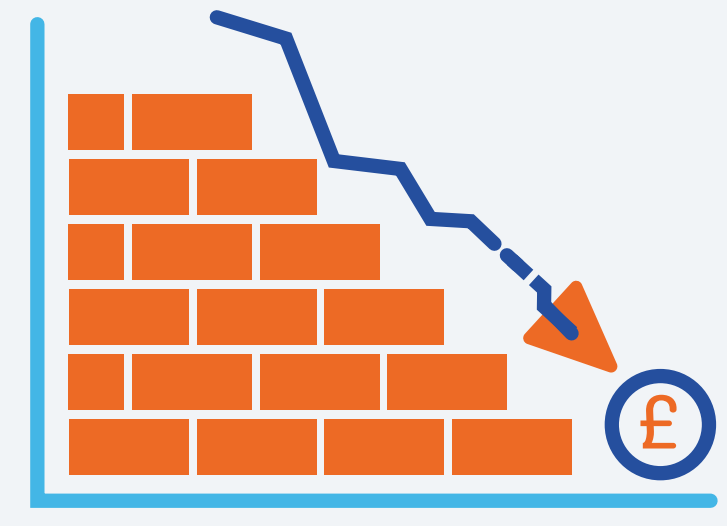

Those already adopting digital technologies are transforming commercial performance across the front line

39% increased project profitability

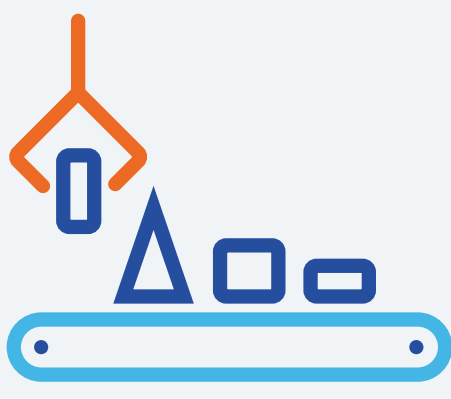

88% improved workforce productivity

81% reduced operating costs

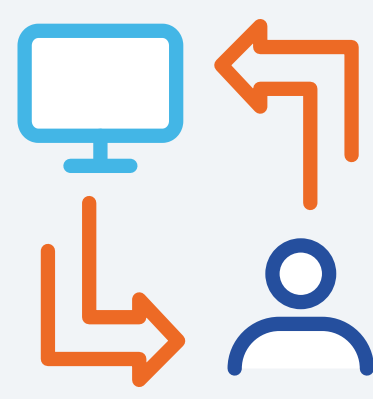

And driving operational efficiency and real value within their businesses

Supply chain performance

65% have built stronger supplier relationships

Project and operational control

81% have better and faster flows of information and data

People management

56% are attracting and retaining new talent

Client relationships

85% experienced increased client satisfaction

PREPARING FOR THE YEAR AHEAD

Where construction leaders consider digital technology having the most positive impact on their business

88% recommend e-invoicing and receipting

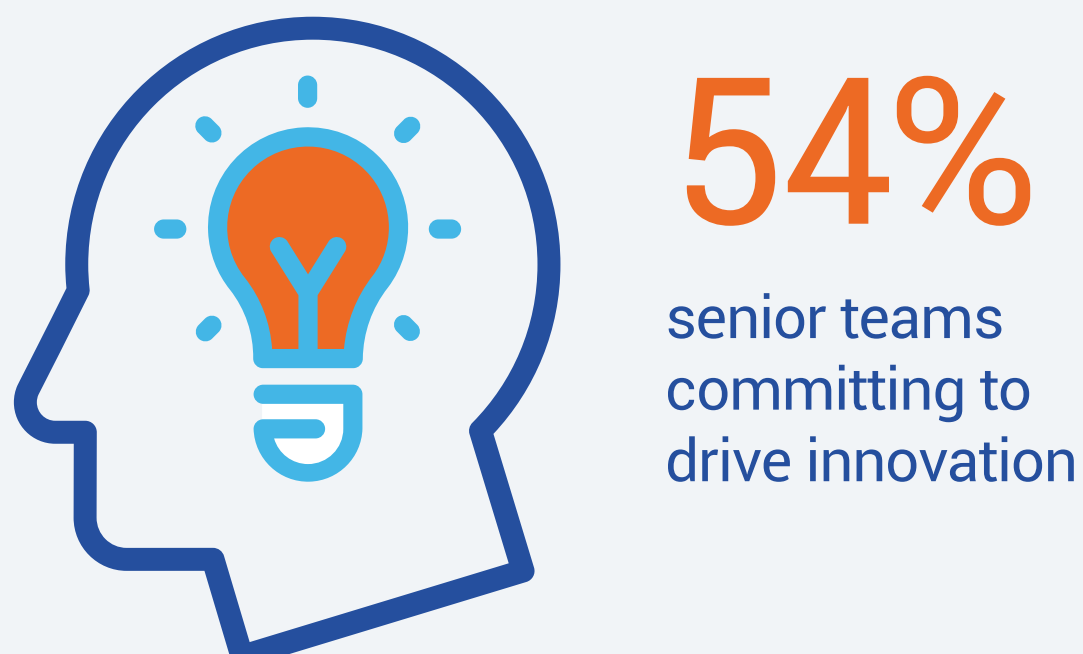

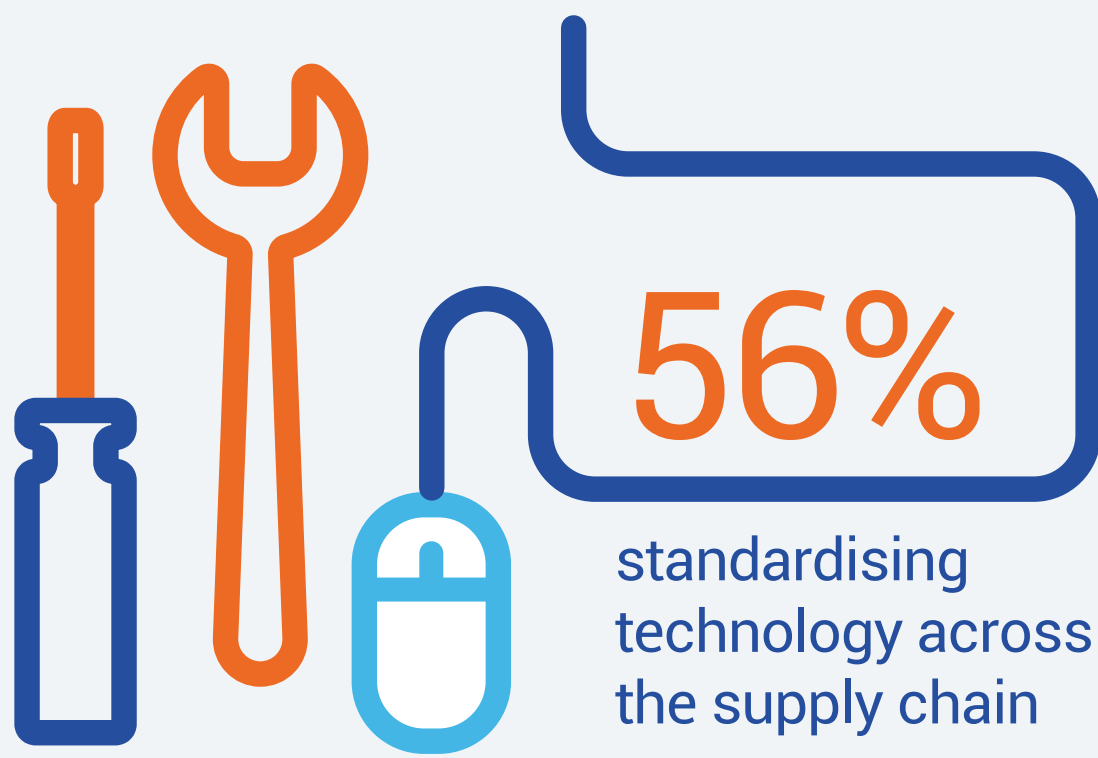

56% suggest health and safety compliance on site

49% propose labour and workforce management

And the key initiatives to drive transformative change

To find out more on how the construction industry is stepping up to its digital transformation opportunity, download your copy of our free report.

causeway.com/front-line

